

TURKEY – WHY AND HOW CAN ANYBODY BE ACCUSED TO BE A TERRORIST

23. October 2018 – 18.00

top floor of the juridical department / University of Vienna
1010 Vienna, Schottenbastei 10-16

Erol Önderoglu

Representative of Reporter without Borders Turkey

Clemens Lahner

Vienna-based attorney at law, specialized in asylum and aliens law, human rights and criminal law (as defence attorney and representing crime victims). As trial observer of the Vienna Bar Association, he has been following trials against lawyers in Turkey for years.

Ceren Uysal

former human rights lawyer in Turkey, master student on gender studies, University of Vienna. Eren Uysal is still one of the executive board members of the Progressive Lawyers Association, which was banned by a governmental decree during the state of emergency.

Bernhard Csengel

Amnesty International Austria, Campaigner

Rubina Möhring

Reporters without Borders Austria, moderation

Turkey is the biggest prison for journalists and lawyers who are specialized on Human Rights. Several journalists and lawyers are currently imprisoned. Independent journalism doesn't exist anymore. The universal Human Rights press freedom and freedom of information are consequently violated. What can the rule of law do to prevent this and how are journalists coping with the difficult situation?

Reporters Without Borders Austria, is organizing a series of lectures and panels beginning in late October 2018 in cooperation with Amnesty International and the Institute of Communication at the University of Vienna and the "Platform Rule of Law". Lecturers and guests are concerned journalists, their relatives and experts.

Patronage: Austrian UNESCO Commission.

Support: OSCE Representative on Freedom of the Media.

Free admission. Please register in advance.